

The Railroad of Thanksgiving

By John Cowgill, Washington DC Chapter NRHS

It is the day when people arrived at the New World. They had very little, and they had little to eat. They encountered a few Indians who taught them how to plow the land and to provide for themselves. They later had a huge feast. This was called the First Thanksgiving as they were thankful for the great feast.

Thanksgiving is a day that is set aside to be thankful for the things we have. When it comes to the railroad, we have many things we need to be thankful for.

We have the many track workers who look over and repair the tracks to keep the trains rolling. We have the engineers who operate the trains to and from their destinations hauling freight and passengers across the country. We have the mechanics and repair people who make sure everything is in working order. We have the porters and conductors who make the passengers feel comfortable as the trains roll on. We have the baggage handlers who make sure your luggage arrives at the station when you do.

For those who are traveling on Thanksgiving, think of those who are sacrificing their Thanksgiving so that you can get to yours. Their work will not be in vain on this very day.

So, let us take the time to be thankful to those who keep the trains running not only on Thanksgiving and but all year round. To everyone else, I wish you all a very Happy Thanksgiving. May you have plenty, and may you thank the freight trains and crews that brought your meals to you.

[Editor's Note: many thanks to John Cowgill for sharing his seasonal column with the NRHS News. Also, your editor sends very best wishes for wonderful holidays to each and everyone!]

My First Christmas With Trains

By BOB GONGLESKI, Lackawanna & Wyoming Valley Chapter NRHS

My mother Dorothy (Selingo) Gongleski introduced me to trains at the age of 4 months. I'm now 72 years old, so I got a very early start with my love of trains. My grandparents lived in Plymouth, PA and I grew up in Swoyersville, PA.

HOW IT ALL BEGAN – Mother, son and trainset.*

In December, 1951 at my grandparents' house, my grandfather and uncle (John Sr and John Jr Selingo) set up a 3-level Lionel train display in their living room with up to 5 trains running on it. All the buildings were scratch built with scrap wood from my grandfather's place of employment.

THREE-LEVEL TRAIN DISPLAY – A very detailed layout.

Buildings included both Roman Catholic and Greek Catholic churches. Each represented the two different religious backgrounds of my grandparents. The display would start construction right after Thanksgiving and would remain up through Russian New Year in mid-January.

THREE-LEVEL TRAIN DISPLAY - A new tradition that honored the background of both families.

You can see more of the display, including the 4-6-0 #257 and cars running on the 2nd level of the layout. Next to the Roman Catholic Church at the right of each photo is the only remaining house that I have from this display.

BUILDING THE DISPLAY – My grandfather and uncle (John Sr. and John J. Selingo) constructing the layout. The radiator in the background would be shut off and covered with paper and painted to depict a distant mountain using smaller scale buildings for perspective.

I still have my grandfather's first Lionel train – a 4-6-0 #257 with a 4 wheel tender, and a 607 and 608 Pullman passenger cars. In 1972, due to Hurricane Agnes in the Wilkes-Barre area of Pennsylvania, the train set was underwater for several days and the original set box and boxes were destroyed. I had the train cleaned and serviced, and it still runs to this day (2023).

Sumpter Valley RR Restoration – Heritage Grant

NRHS Helps Fund Archive and Library Building for Sumpter Valley Railroad Restoration

Sumpter Valley Railroad Restoration, Inc., “SVRR” was awarded a Heritage Grant in 2023 to assist with construction of their new archive and library building. The matching grant was targeted toward the HVAC system for the structure. The new 20’x40’ building at the organization’s McEwen, Oregon site is slated for completion in 2024.

EXTERIOR OF FUTURE HOME OF SVRR ARCHIVE AND LIBRARY – Exterior of the 20 foot by 40 foot structure which will be the home of SVRR’s archive department and railroad library collection.

UNFINISHED INTERIOR OF THE STRUCTURE – The interior as shown has a smaller room in the rear which is for secure archival storage, while the larger space will house displays and the organization’s railroad library.

SVRR is best known for running steam and diesel excursion trains on five miles of the original Sumpter Valley Railway right of way. The organization also has a very active archive department focused on the Sumpter Valley Railway, associated lumber companies and Northeast Oregon logging and railroading in general.
