

RAILCAMP 2021 REPORT

Due to many issues and lack of definite positive answers we were forced to cancel RailCamp 2021.

RailCamp is not a social distancing program. Dorm life, group meals, traveling in vans to venues and available space at venues to accommodate our group are some of the issues. There is testing, vaccines, traveling from state to state, what if one gets sick and on and on with questions.

All applicants were sent an email explaining our decision. We have only heard from one camper and one parent saying they understand our position. It is obvious to me that most were skeptical we would hold the camps and agree with our decision.

Our partners are still onboard. East Director Tony White and Northwest Director John Cox have been in touch with all of them and will continue to keep them apprised of our plans. We will need to be aggressive with our promotion after two years off for RailCamp 2022.
